Thank you for holding the informational presentation by the Jamestown S'Klallam Tribe last week, highlighting some of the recent work in co-management of the Dungeness and Protection Island Wildlife Refuges.

I believe it was stated at the end of the presentation that you would be a conduit for follow up information from the Jamestown Tribe at this point and in the future they would be responsive to information into the operations at the refuges.

I have some follow up questions regarding the commercial shellfish operation at the Dungeness Refuge.

1- The spokeswomen said if the land acquisitions are approved they would sit within the Bureau of Indian Affairs. As far as I know, the BIA has no environmental laws, regulatory statutes or environmental enforcement levers on their books. Is that correct? And if so, there would be no avenue for legal environmental oversight?

2- If I heard correctly, the spokeswomen said the boundaries of the refuge only include land, but a quick google search on the US Fish and Wildlife website clearly shows the refuge boundaries include near shore tidal waters. Indeed, as you approach the refuge while in Dungeness Bay waters, there are signs warning you not to proceed as it is a wildlife refuge.

For clarification, can we see a map of the Jamestown Tribe's interpretation of the boundaries of both refuges and how far they extend into the water?

3-As to a question on the location of the oyster beds that Jamestown Tribe has already laid at the refuge, the spokeswomen said that they are in Washington State waters, but a federal district court (where the current lawsuit was filed) would not accept a case that involves state land issues. Can they clarify what state waters they were referencing?

4- Can we see a map of the location where their oyster beds are currently laid at the Dungeness Refuge, and where their commercial expansion plans will extend?

5- Previously, the Jamestown Tribe has mentioned working with a partner in their commercial shellfish operations at the Dungeness Refuge, is that still the case and what is the company?

6- What commercial operations in the near shore coastal environment are being considered for Protection Island?

I hope there will be a public discussion of the answers to these questions and of the commercial shellfish operation aspect of the land transfer proposition.

Thank you

Dear Clallam County Commissioners,

Attached is the petition signatures to Deny the Transfer of Two National Wildlife Refuges: The Dungeness Wildlife Refuge and Protection Island Refuge to the Jamestown S'Klallam Tribe. We have 1,440 Signatures in 11 days.

We American Citizens are against this transfer of our land to this Sovereign Tribe for many reasons:

1. This Tribe has lied to the American people here about co-managing the Dungeness Spit. It is not being co-managed.
2. They did not follow instructions and created a Dyke breakthrough on Towne Rd in Sequim that caused the death of a citizen because the Fire department had to take an extra 25 minutes to get to his home
3. They said they would not put in a Psychiatric Ward on their land in Downtown Sequim near the Medicated Assistance Treatment Center behind Costco, and two -three years later they did.
4. They are trying to get people kicked out of their homes at 3 Crabs
5. There was a large argument about the commercial oyster farming they did in Sequim Bay that was not environmental. Protect the Peninsulas Future is an active group with a lawsuit against the National Fish and Wildlife for not following their own rules.
Www.protectthepeninsulasfuture.com
6. We want to have access to this Wildlife Refuge.

KEEP OUR REFUGES

We the citizens below are AGAINST the proposal to transfer federal wildlife refuge land—currently held for the benefit of all Americans—to the Bureau of Indian Affairs, to be held in trust for the Jamestown S’Klallam Tribe. The proposed transfer of the Dungeness Wildlife Refuge and Protection Island Refuges to the Jamestown S’Klallam Tribe under the Land Transfer Act of 2026 is not in the best interest of preserving these vital natural habitats for future generations.

The Dungeness Wildlife Refuge and Protection Island Refuges are treasured parts of America’s natural heritage, offering sanctuary to unique flora and fauna. These refuges have long been managed with the view of preserving these ecosystems for all Americans, ensuring that the public can enjoy and appreciate them. Shifting ownership solely to the Sovereign Jamestown S’Klallam Tribe is not in the best interests of American citizens.

PETITION TO STOP THE TRANSFER OF FEDERAL WILDLIFE REFUGE TO JAMESTOWN S'KLALLAM TRIBE

We the citizens below are AGAINST the proposal to transfer federal wildlife refuge land—currently held for the benefit of all Americans—to the Bureau of Indian Affairs, to be held in trust for the Jamestown S'Klallam Tribe. The proposed transfer of the Dungeness Wildlife Refuge and Protection Island Refuges to the Jamestown S'Klallam Tribe under the Land Transfer Act of 2026 is not in the best interest of preserving these vital natural habitats for future generations. While the co-management of these areas was initially introduced as a collaborative effort, this transition to sole management by the Jamestown S'Klallam Tribe raises significant concerns about public access and conservation priorities.

The Dungeness Wildlife Refuge and Protection Island Refuges are treasured parts of America's natural heritage, offering sanctuary to unique flora and fauna. These refuges have long been managed with the view of preserving these ecosystems for all Americans, ensuring that the public can enjoy and appreciate them. Shifting ownership solely to the Sovereign Jamestown S'Klallam Tribe is not in the best interests of American citizens.

Additionally, these refuges hold significant ecological, recreational, and educational value. The potential for altering their ownership could undermine the integrity of these values. Americans have treasured these landscapes for generations, and any drastic changes in their ownership should be carefully considered and involve public consultation.

We understand the importance of recognizing tribal sovereignty and the historic injustices tribes have faced. However, changes of this magnitude require a transparent process and assurance that all stakeholders, including the public, have their voices heard and respected. The city council of Sequim has not held any meetings asking for the public's opinions and wishes.

We urge lawmakers and relevant authorities to stop the Land Transfer Act of 2026 of the Dungeness Wildlife Refuge and Protection island Refuges, to any separate Sovereign Entity= Jamestown S'Klallam Tribe.

Re: Joint Public Safety Facility - 2100 W Edgewood Dr., Port Angeles, WA
Our Client: Neeley Construction Company

Dear Mr. Mielke and Mr. Curtin:

This firm represents Neeley Construction Company ("Neeley") with regard to the protest it has lodged regarding the Port Angeles Joint Public Safety Facility (the "Project").

This letter responds to your letter to the Project's bidders, dated April 10, 2026, in which you reported that Clallam County and the City of Port Angeles (collectively, the "Municipalities") that the Municipalities intended to award the Project to HB Hansen Construction ("HB Hansen").

Washington law does not permit awarding the contract for the Project to HB Hansen and HB Hansen's bid must be rejected. HB Hansen was the apparent low bidder on the first round of Project bidding in 2025 but by Mr. Mielke's own admission in his March 3, 2026 email to our client, HB Hansen was issued an intent to award within thirty days of the initial Project bid date, but failed to enter into the offered contract. That email is an admission that the Municipalities did not follow the law with regard to that procurement, because HB Hansen failed or refused to enter into the offered contract and instead attempted to enter into post-bid negotiations with the Municipalities. That email is set out below.

RCW 39.04.107 is a mandatory provision in our law, and is to something the Municipalities cannot ignore or avoid. It provides that “[a] low bidder on a public works project who claims error and fails to enter into a contract is prohibited from bidding on the same project if a second or subsequent call for bids is made for the project.” There is nothing in that statute to indicate is it permissive or that a public owner can waive or ignore its mandates.

A. HB Hansen was the low bidder on the first call for bids and failed to enter a contract

These facts are not in doubt. The Project bids were due on November 10, 2025. HB Hansen, Neeley, and Interwest Construction, Inc. (“Interwest”) submitted bids. On bid day, HB Hansen was the apparent low bidder.

However, as Mr. Mielke explained to our client in his March 3 email, HB Hansen’s bid included pricing from an electrical subcontractor that failed to include the full electrical scope. There was a discrepancy between what HB Hansen assumed was included in its subcontractor’s bid and what was actually included. The end result is that HB Hansen’s bid – which was for the complete JPSF Project – had a scope gap in excess of $750,000. It is amply clear that the Municipalities understood exactly what happened, what HB Hansen’s problem was, and knew that its failure to hold the electrical sub to its bid price was why HB Hansen refused or failed enter into the Project contract.

Hi Mitch,

I appreciate the insights. I wasn’t aware that you had other subcontractors in waiting that were willing to accept the same price quoted by your primary sub.

In this case, the low bidder forwarded me e-mails received from the subcontractor. They were pretty clear. This sub started by saying they were submitting supplement bids to the original they submitted to cover costs of additional Division plan documents they did not originally include. Then they contended they only committed to a price guarantee of 30 days. That transitioned into saying they would do the work for an additional $750,000, but still would not include the communication tower and some other essential elements of the project. Those were all e-mails from the sub to the general that started as soon as the general forwarded to them our Intent to Award letter. We looked at awarding the contract excluding the bid from this sub since the general was willing to guarantee the price on everything else, but that did not prove to be a viable option. We assumed the only thing that would change is that the sub would have forwarded those same e-mails to you or the other bidder. Ultimately, it appeared this sub was the common factor in all the bids and we did not want to be in the position of starting the project and then having to shut it down if legal action was required to compel the sub to perform.

Moreover, it is clear that the Municipalities also understood that HB Hansen was responsible for assuring its bid was compliant with the Invitation to Bid and complete in all respects. And certainly, the Municipalities were aware after their proffer of a contract to HB Hansen that its bid was not compliant or complete, because according to Mr. Mielke’s email, HB Hansen admitted that.

Subject: RE: Joint Public Safety Facility Bid Rejection Notice

Hi Mitch,

We are excited as well to be back out for bid. We are looking forward to moving this project forward as soon as possible and start turning dirt.

Regarding the question you posed, we have not disqualified any general contractor from bidding on this project. This decision was made after considerable conversations with our legal counsel and based on what I believe is a circumstance that I've never seen in my past life involved with construction. It is why in our bid invitation, we strongly communicate to potential bidders to know that all bids were rejected previously, direct them to read the rejection letter, and understand why.

In this case, we had a substantial subcontractor that was not going to honor their bid or perform all the work outlined in the bid documents. While this circumstance is typically the exclusive responsibility of the general contractor/bidder, this same subcontractor was present in every bid we received, including yours. We have no reason to believe this subcontractor wouldn't have taken the same action had we rejected the low bidder and proceeded with the second or even third bidder. That drove our decision to reject all bids.

The moment it was clear that HB Hansen was “not going to honor its bid”, RCW 39.04.107 required the Municipalities to prohibit HB Hansen from participating in the re-bid, period. Rather, the only things the Municipalities might have been able to do at that point was to: a) reject all bids; b) inform HB Hansen that its bid bond was forfeited; and c) schedule a rebid that excluded HB Hansen from participation. When the Municipalities failed to take those steps, they violated Washington’s Public Bidding Statutes.

And , what the Municipalities now understand was that Neeley, the second Project bidder was prepared to honor its November 10, 2025 bid and execute a contract for its bid price

B. HB Hansen’s failure to contract was a “claim of error” under RCW 39.04.107

RCW 39.04.107 does not define “error” so this term should be given “its plain and ordinary meaning...”. Ravenscroft v. Washington Water Power Co., 136 Wn.2d 911, 921, 969 P.2d 75 (1998). A standard English dictionary may also be employed to determine the meaning of an undefined term. State v. Connors, 9 Wn.App.2d 93, 96, 442 P.3d 20 (2019).

What error means, and how it is typically used, is: “something produced by mistake.” Error, Merriam-Webster.

Courts have also described price gaps in public works bids as “errors.” In Puget Sound Painters, a painting subcontractor thought field measurements covered two sides of a tower when they covered only one. Puget Sound Painters v. State, 45 Wn.2d 819, 820, 278 P.2d 302 (1954). The contractor “multiplied by two rather than by four, in computing the area of the four legs of each tower...The final result of his compilations was that Puget's bid was in error in failing to include the cost of...one half of each bridge tower." Id. (emphasis added).

In this case, HB Hansen's bid price did not include costs for portions of the Project electrical work. HB Hansen's post-bid attempts to negotiate away the scope and price gaps in its bid demonstrate that the bid included errors.

C. HB Hansen is Prohibited from Submitting Subsequent Bids for the Work

The effect of RCW 39.04.107 is clear, and as observed above, mandatory. HB Hansen was "prohibited from bidding on the same project." However the Municipalities violated Washington law when they permitted HB Hansen to participate in the re-bid.

If the Municipalities proceed with the award of this contract in contravention of RCW 39.04.107 Neeley will enforce its rights in Clallam County Superior Court, and will seek an injunction to prohibit the County from awarding the Project contract to HB Hansen.

The Municipalities' counsel may contact the undersigned about this matter. We ask that you respond without delay as to the County's intentions regarding the Project award. Neeley reserves all rights it enjoys under the Invitation to Bid and Washington law.

Very truly yours,
INSLEE, BEST, DOEZIE & RYDER, P.S.
